Assistant General Manager
Four or Five-star Hotel
Copenhagen, Denmark

Dear Assistant General Manager,

This is the first time for me to send a letter about our study to your hotel. I am the Doctor and Chairperson of Sports in Japan. It is my pleasure to introduce our academic homepage “chairperson.jp” which is visited from all over the world excluding China (?). For your information, I have informed about the “Chairperson 20th Anniversary Treatise” which is an unconventional style (not a full paper style) to the professors of the University of Tokyo in 2012, Harvard University in 2013, Oxford University in 2014 and Paris University in 2015 for the “Doping-Backdoor Theory,” the general managers or assistant general managers of hundreds of four or five-star hotels around the world for the “Chairperson Cocktail” and the regular members of the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra for “My Way” in (2010 and) 2016. “There is one and only theory (using an examination broker and more than six million yen medical education fees) and cocktail (Cocktail ‘Olympic’ + Angostura Bitters) for universities and hotels in the 21st century.”

In contemporary Japan, there are approximately 85 national universities, 100 public universities, and 600 private universities. As a result of the declining birthrate and the subsequent decrease in the number of university applicants, more than half of these universities currently face enrollment shortfalls. At renowned universities such as Private Meiji University, Private Aoyama Gakuin University, National Chiba University, National Fukushima University, and National Mie University, around 50% of undergraduate students are considered “mediocre students” who lack clear evidence of an academic deviation score above 50.

In private universities, there are institutions known for their exorbitantly high tuition fees, particularly for medical education. For example, medical education at Teikyo University, Tokyo Medical University, Tokyo Women’s Medical University, and Aichi Medical University costs over 60 million yen through the use of an examination broker. At Fujita Health University, medical education costs for many mediocre students exceed 70 million yen and are considered extremely high. This includes an infamous case of a (former) mediocre graduate student who was caught cheating on the National Medical Licensing Examination. His medical education costs are estimated to have exceeded 100 million yen or one million USD, which is most likely the worst recorded cost for medical education in Japan. It should be noted that caution is necessary with Japan’s major newspaper Asahi Shimbun, which has been acting as a “taikomochi (jester)” for Fujita Health University from the past. The term “taikomochi,” a uniquely Japanese metaphorical expression, originally referred to someone who played drums to liven up the atmosphere at banquets, but it has come to mean a person who flatters others or acts obsequiously to gain their favor. Meanwhile, the University of Tokyo, disproportionately emphasized by Japan’s mass media, faces serious issues of academic harassment, often described as “head-dropping treatment,” referring to a response where one’s head forcefully slumps downward, like a chicken. Moreover, Private Waseda University and Private Keio University, two private institutions to which the mass media is also devoted, lack proper business manners. [Reference: “Paper on April 17, 2023 (Malaysia)” and “Paper on January 1, 2024 (Keio University, Japan)” on the academic homepage “chairperson.jp”]

“Big Money, here” 「バカ高い、ここ」

Assistant General Manager, I would be grateful if your hotel could take some interest in my research. No response will be needed. Academic harassment by national universities, such as the University of Tokyo and Kyoto University, was reported to the Board of Directors of the Japan Society for Medical Education on May 30, 2015. However, there has been absolutely no improvement in my (Dr. Shida’s) circumstances as a doctor both before and after that time. I am content that your hotel becomes familiar with our cocktail “Chairperson.”

Sincerely,
Yukihiisa SHIDA (M.D., Ph.D. from Mie University, Japan)

I am arranging the following travel itinerary for a business trip to Copenhagen and Stockholm from May 15 to May 21, 2025. I will stay at the Radisson Collection Royal Hotel on May 16, Hotel d'Angleterre (Leading Hotels of the World) in Copenhagen on May 17 and 18, and Grand Hôtel (Leading Hotels of the World) in Stockholm on May 19, 2025.

Executive Assistant Manager, the meeting between Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru ISHIBA and President Donald Trump, held on February 7, 2025, appeared under the headline in The New York Times: “Foreign Leaders Embrace the Art of Flattery in Wooing Trump” on February 10, 2025. Meanwhile, Prime Minister Ishiba assured reporters and White House officials that his compliments for President Trump were not an attempt to “suck up to him,” but rather part of an effort to ensure “world peace” and “regional stability.”

The Asahi Shimbun, one of Japan's most prominent national newspapers, has consistently turned a blind eye to issues surrounding private Fujita Health University—including the use of admissions brokers and medical education costs exceeding 70 million yen—while simultaneously praising the university's management. In effect, the paper acts as a sycophant to this so-called “money-powered backdoor university.” In much the same way, Prime Minister Ishiba ultimately served as a sycophant to Mr. Trump at the White House. This stands in stark contrast to the conduct of Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney. Moreover, Prime Minister ISHIBA—like former Defense Minister Gen NAKATANI, Fuji TV caster Osamu SORIMACHI, and certain regional bankers such as those at Hyakugo Bank (Mie Prefecture, Japan)—has a mannerism of rubbing the area below his nose with his fingers during televised sessions of the Japanese National Diet, which appears to leave viewers and the public with an unclean impression.

Prime Minister Ishiba's visit to the White House on February 7, 2025, was widely reported as a “success” by major Japanese media outlets, despite the fact that his slouched posture was even described as “a national embarrassment for Japan,” and he appeared to act merely as a sycophant to President Trump. While President Trump's total assets are estimated at between 6.5 and 6.7 billion USD (approximately 942 billion to 971 billion yen, assuming an exchange rate of 1 USD = 140 yen), Prime Minister Ishiba's publicly disclosed assets as of April 7, 2025, consisted of 15.55 million yen in land and related property, along with stock holdings. Even if we generously estimate the market value of his stocks at 30 million yen and assume an additional 100 to 200 million yen (?) in undisclosed ordinary savings, his total assets would still amount to approximately 150 to 250 million yen (roughly 1,070,000 to 1,790,000 USD at the same exchange rate). Given this, one could argue that Prime Minister Ishiba, harboring a sense of inferiority, may have felt overwhelmed and deeply nervous in the presence of such immense wealth, possibly leading him to ingratiate himself with the former president. And yet, one must ask: was this meeting truly a “success” for Japan?

“Japanese Prime Minister Ishiba’s sense of inferiority toward the ultra-wealthy may have been reflected in his facial expressions and behavior.
It is estimated that his total assets are in the range of roughly 150 to 250 million yen (approximately 1,070,000 to 1,790,000 USD).”

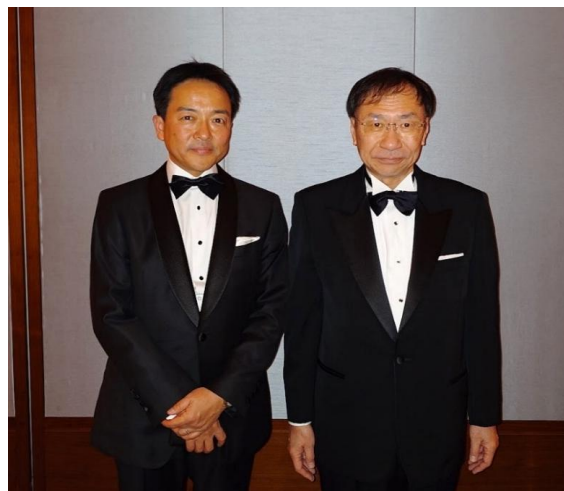

Nevertheless, despite all these aspects, Japanese mass media—perhaps influenced by bias toward his background as a graduate of private Keio University—have uniformly praised Prime Minister Ishiba’s stance toward the United States and labeled the meeting with President Trump as a political “success.” As a result, it is not uncommon to encounter descriptions such as “The husband is a university graduate, and the wife graduated from Waseda University,” or “The husband graduated from the University of Tokyo, and the wife is a university graduate.” Such reporting practices appear inappropriate for a major Japanese newspaper that claims to uphold fairness and impartiality. Furthermore, in recent years, private Waseda University and private Keio University—where an estimated 20–30% of undergraduate students are mediocre—are often treated on equal footing with national institutions such as the University of Tokyo and Kyoto University, where brilliant students predominate. It has also become commonplace to implicitly equate mediocre graduates of Waseda and Keio with graduates of national universities who are widely regarded as brilliant.

For instance, at the Leading Hotels of the World Annual Party held on February 22, 2025, I had the opportunity to meet Mr. Kazuhiko YASHIMA, General Manager of the Imperial Hotel Tokyo (Leading Hotels of the World), who is a graduate of the Faculty of Business and Commerce at Keio University. However, since he was admitted to Keio University through a recommendation-based entrance system from a designated affiliated high school, unlike myself—a holder of a doctoral degree in medicine from Mie University and a successful examinee of the departmental entrance examination for the Faculty of Education at national Fukushima University—he was unable to offer any clear evidence that he belonged to the category of the brilliant (“shūsai”). A former product manager at IBM Japan, who now provides operational support for the academic website “chairperson.jp,” was admitted to Yokohama City University through a recommendation-based entrance examination and graduated from the Department of Mathematics in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. As such, he possesses a broad cultural foundation and specialized academic knowledge, just like former Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihide SUGA. However, he appears to be mediocre, as there is no decisive evidence that he is brilliant. At the Imperial Hotel Tokyo, in addition to General Manager Kazuhiko YASHIMA, Honorary Master Sake Sommelier Takashi MATSUMOTO, Head Sommelier Yasuhiko ITŌ, Chef Thierry Voisin, and Guest Chef Bruno Menard are also considered mediocre. Nevertheless, each of them is engaged in difficult and challenging work within their respective areas of expertise and is capable of communicating in English.

Mr. Katsu TSUNODA, President of the Asahi Shimbun Company (a graduate of private Waseda University), and Mr. Shirō NAKAMURA, Chairperson of the Board (a graduate of the University of Tokyo, a national institution), both lack a sense of balance and have contributed to the creation of uniquely—and misguided—Japanese rules. What the Japanese mass media seek is not truth or transparency, but rather the preservation of the false narratives they themselves have created—namely, that “private Waseda University and private Keio University are elite universities attended by brilliant students, with clear evidence of their brilliance (shusai),” and that “private Fujita Health University is a top-class university where students do not use entrance examination brokers, and its medical education costs only 30 million yen (approximately 214,000 USD, assuming an exchange rate of 1 USD = 140 yen).” [Reference: “Paper on April 17, 2023 (Malaysia)” and “Paper on January 26, 2025 (Egypt),” etc. on the academic homepage “chairperson.jp”]

On March 6, 2025, in Denmark and Sweden, the government-run postal service “PostNord” announced that it would end domestic letter delivery by the end of December 2025. Then, on March 29, 2025, U.S. President Trump stated regarding Greenland, a self-governing territory of Denmark, “We’ll get Greenland. 100%.” In contrast, recent developments in Japan serve as a vivid reminder that cultural values differ greatly from country to country. Japanese mass media exhibit a strong commitment to private Waseda University and private Keio University, along with a marked bias toward the University of Tokyo. There is also a pervasive trend of equating so-called “mediocre (dominant) universities” with “brilliant universities,” and portraying individuals of mediocre ability as if they were truly brilliant—reflecting a deeper cultural pattern that merits critical awareness.

In light of these undesirable circumstances in 21st-century Japan, I—holding a Doctor of Medicine degree from a national university in Japan—am pleased to have the opportunity to introduce the cocktail “Chairperson” to the people of Copenhagen, Denmark, in collaboration with the academic website chairperson.jp, which stands apart from the reporting stance of Japan’s mass media.

Furthermore, on March 13, 2025, it was revealed that Prime Minister Shigeru ISHIBA of the ruling Liberal Democratic Party had distributed a total of 1.5 million yen to fellow members of the Diet. This disclosure triggered public criticism of Prime Minister Ishiba and caused a sharp decline in his approval ratings. A slush fund refers to money that is managed and used unofficially, without being recorded in official accounting books, with its source and purpose deliberately concealed. When such funds come to light, they are typically viewed by the public as evidence of financial misconduct or opaque practices. Similarly, medical education expenses exceeding 60 million yen at private institutions such as Aichi Medical University, Teikyo University, Tokyo Medical University, and Tokyo Women’s Medical University have also drawn public scrutiny, being labeled as part of a “money-powered backdoor admission system.” As a result of the scandal, Prime Minister Ishiba has been harshly criticized as a “slush-fund politician,” and increasing numbers of people now regard him as unfit to serve as the face of the Liberal Democratic Party or to appeal to the public for “clean and honest votes.” There is growing speculation that he may be forced to resign before this summer’s House of Councillors election. Incidentally, former Prime Minister Fumio KISHIDA became known as the “doting parent,” and his son Shotaro KISHIDA as the “stupid son,” after two scandals that came to light during his time in office: a taxpayer-funded overseas sightseeing trip and the so-called “Terrorist at L’Ultima Cena.” The two were subjected to public criticism as a self-indulgent father and son. 2025 年 2 月 10 日、New York Times は、日本の石破茂首相とドナルド・トランプ大統領の初会談（2025 年 2 月 7 日）に関して、「Foreign Leaders Embrace the Art of Flattery in Wooing Trump」という見出しとともに、石破首相のコメントを報じました。石破首相は、「トランプ大統領への賛辞は『彼に媚びへつらう』ためではなく、むしろ『世界平和』と『地域の安定』を確保するための努力の一環である」と述べられました。

日本の有力紙 朝日新聞は、新聞紙面上、私立藤田医科大学の入試 Broker と 7 千万円以上の医学教育費については目を瞑られた上、その大学経営を誉め称えられる「(裏口金権大学である) 私立藤田医科大学の太鼓持ち」をされてますが、石破茂首相も結果的にホワイトハウスで「トランプ氏の太鼓持ち」になりました。Canada の Mark Carney 首相とは対照的です。また石破首相は、日本の国会全国中継の TV カメラの前で日常ご自身の鼻の下を指でこすられるなど、中谷防衛大臣、反町理 フジ TV Caster、百五銀行（三重県）の銀行員などと同じく国民、周囲に不潔な感じを与えてみえますが、トランプ―石破会談について、日本のマスメディアは、石破首相（私立慶應義塾大学出身）の America に対する政治姿勢、「太鼓持ち」を総じて「成功」として絶賛されています。

石破首相の 2025 年 2 月 7 日のホワイトハウス訪問は、「日本の恥」とまで言われた、だらしない座り方をされ、トランプ大統領の単なる太鼓持ちに徹してみえたにもかかわらず、日本の主要 Media で「成功」と報道されました。トランプ大統領の総資産が 65~67 億ドル（1 USD=145 円換算で約 9420 億円~9710 億円）に上る一方、石破首相の 2025 年 4 月 7 日に公開された資産は、土地などの 1,555 万円と保有株式等です。仮に保有株式等の時価金額が 3 千万円、非公開の普通預金等が 1 億円~2 億円(?) として総資産 1 億 5 千万円~2 億 5 千万円（1 USD=140 円換算で約 107 万ドル~約 179 万ドル）でみえたとしても、Complex を持たれる石破首相は気後れし、かなり緊張された上、大金持ちに対しておべっかを使われたのかもしれませんが、この会談は日本にとって本当に「成功」だったのでしょうか？

「日本の石破首相の超富裕層に対する劣等感が、表情や言動に表れたのかもしれませんが。彼の総資産はおおよそ 1 億 5 千万円~2 億 5 千万円（約 107 万ドル~約 179 万ドル）と推測されています。」

日本のマスメディアは、私立早稲田大学と私立慶應義塾大学に傾倒し、国立東京大学を偏重してみえまして、注意が必要です。例えば、朝日新聞では一般の夫婦を紹介する際に、夫または妻が私立早稲田大学、私立慶應義塾大学、そして国立東京大学の出身であれば大学名が必ず記載されますが、それ以外の大学の場合、記載されないことがしばしばです。すなわち、「夫は大学卒業、妻は早稲田大学卒業」や「夫は東京大学卒業、妻は大学卒業」などの表記がされることが頻繁で、公平・公正な立場を公言してみえる日本の大新聞としては不適切な報道姿勢として拝見出来ます。また、学部生の 20~30%が凡才で、凡才が支配的な「私立早稲田大学と私立慶應義塾大学」が、秀才が支配的な「国立東京大学と国立京都大学」と同列に取り扱われたり、私立早稲田大学や私立慶應義塾大学の凡才卒業生を国立大学の秀才卒業生と重ねられたり、さらに凡才卒業生をあたかも秀才の様に表現することが一般的になっています。

例えば、2025 年 2 月 22 日に Leading Hotels of the World の Annual Party でお会いした帝国ホテル東京の八島和彦総支配人は、私立慶應義塾大学商学部のご出身ですが、慶應大学の指定高校からの推薦入試による大学入学のため、私（三重大学医学博士、国立福島大学教育学部・学科入学試験合格）と異なり、「(頭が強い) 秀才」であるという明確な Evidence をご本人から伺うことは出来ませんでした。

学術 Homepage「chairperson.jp」の運営 Support をしていただいています元 IBM 日本法人の Product Manager も、横浜市立大学の推薦入試に合格し、文理学部数学科を卒業されています。ゆえに豊かな教養と専門的な学識を身につけていらっしゃいますが、秀才であるとの決定的な Evidence は持ってみえない凡才でみえます。帝国 Hotel 東京におかれましては、八島和彦総支配人の他、松本隆名誉きき酒師、伊藤靖彦 Head Sommelier、Thierry Voisin Chef、Bruno Menard Guest Chef も凡才でいらっしゃいますが、皆さんそれぞれのご専門領域で難しい仕事をされ、英語もお出来になります。

朝日新聞社の角田勝社長（私立早稲田大学卒業）および中村史郎会長（国立東京大学卒業）は、いずれも Balance 感覚を欠いてみえ、「日本独自の、しかも誤った Rule」を作り出しています。日本のマスメディアが追い求めているのは、真実や透明性ではなく、むしろ彼ら自身が生み出した虚構——すなわち「私立早稲田大学と私立慶應義塾大学は、学部生が秀才の Evidence がある秀才大学」、「私立藤田医科大学は、入試 Broker を使わず、医学教育費が 3 千万円（1USD=140 円換算では、214,000 USD）の、Top Class の大学」などを守ることなのです。

Denmark と Sweden では政府系の郵便サービス「PostNord」が 2025 年 3 月 6 日、国内での手紙の配達を 2025 年 12 月末で終了すると発表し、2025 年 3 月 29 日には America の Trump 大統領が Denmark 自治領である Greenland について、「We'll get Greenland. 100%。」と述べられましたが、日本の Mass Media に見られる、私立早稲田大学と私立慶應義塾大学への傾倒、国立東京大学の偏重、さらには「凡才大学」を「秀才大学」に重ね、「凡才」を「秀才」に重ねる風潮など、国によって文化のあり方が大きく異なることが改めて実感されます今日このごろです。

なお 2025 年 3 月 13 日に、政権与党である自由民主党におきまして、石破茂総理自身の合法的な裏金（150 万円）が発覚しまして、石破総理に対する世間の見方が厳しくなり、支持率が急低下しました。裏金とは、公的機関や組織において正式な帳簿に記載されず、出所や用途が秘匿されたまま非公式に管理・使用される金銭を指します。通常こうした資金が表面化しますと、不正や不透明な金銭管理として社会的批判の対象となることが多くあります。「裏口金権大学」の私立愛知医大、私立帝京大学、私立東京医大、私立東京女子医大などの 6 千万円以上の医学教育費もそうです。なお石破総理は「裏金政治家」として非難を浴びまして、自由民主党の顔として国民に「清き一票」を訴える総理大臣としてはふさわしくなく、今夏の参院選挙までに退陣されるのではないかと囁かれています。ちなみに岸田文雄前総理は、在任中に発覚した長男の「税金を投入した海外観光旅行」と「最後の晩餐、テロ事件」にて「親バカとバカ息子」となられ、こちらも甘い親子として、世間の批判に晒されました。
